the songs played on the jukebox reflect the fleeting years...

dreams and anticipations
smiles and wasted tears...

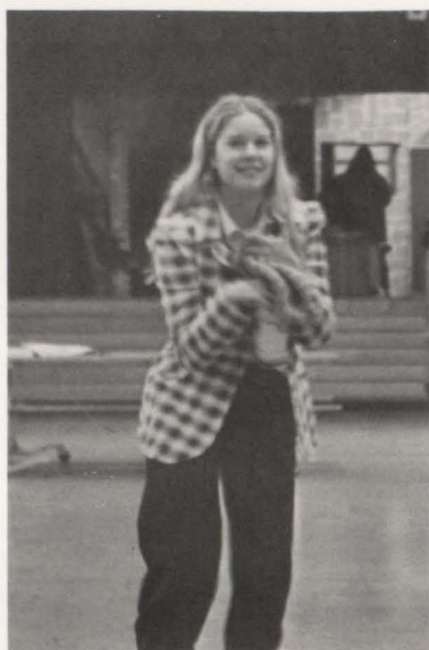

the tunes that we called "our song"
weren't really ours to treasure...

they belong to countless others immortalized forever...

through the years we will retrace
the music of this time.

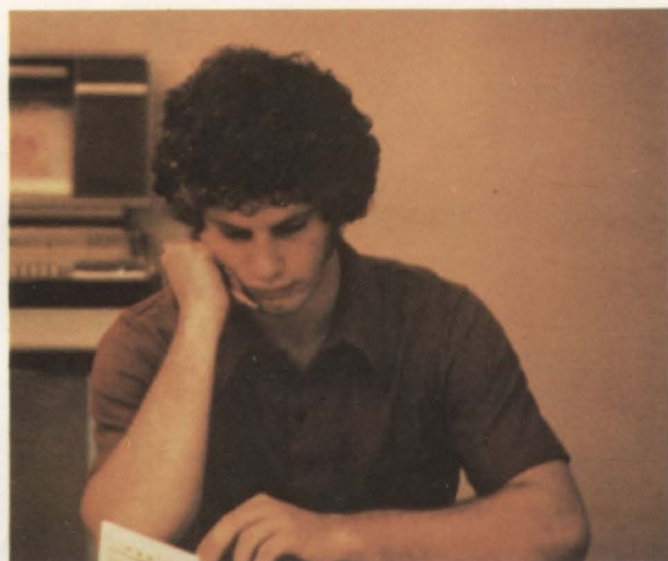

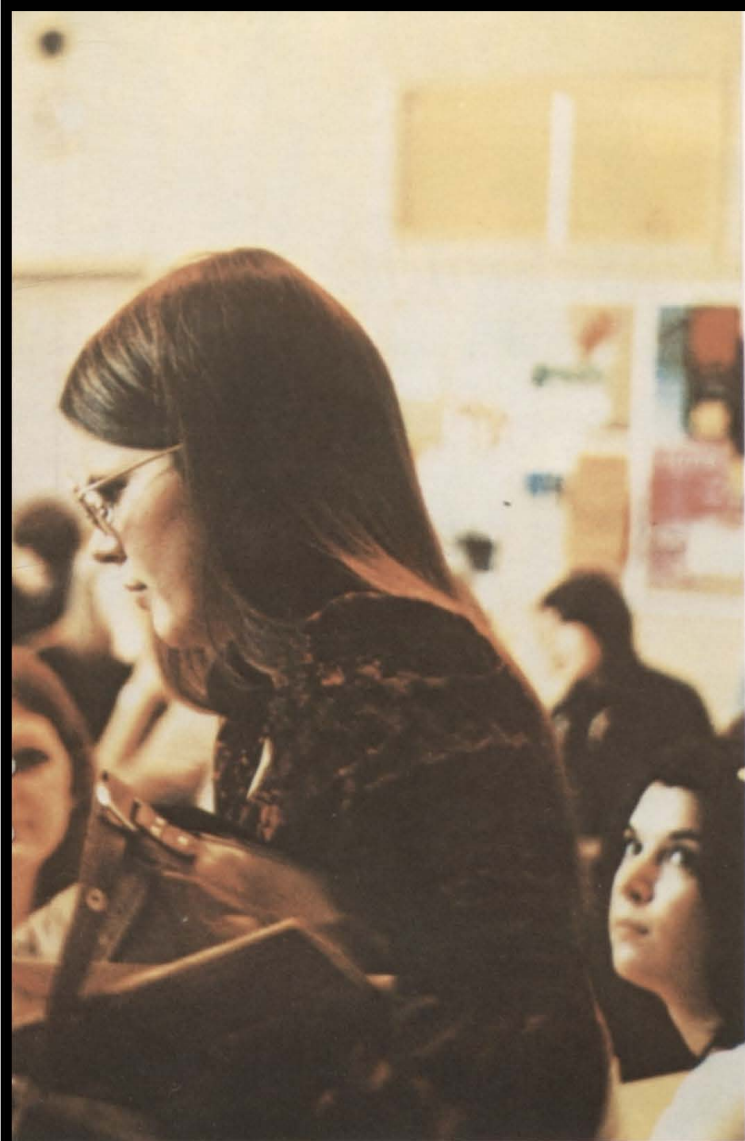

and our youth will live forever

Ilse Schmidt

When asked if she liked Seaside High School, Ilse replied, "Sure." Comparison between Santa Cruz (her home town) and Seaside (her American home) seemed to come off in a tie. Ilse said that there was nothing in America that she would change and that she liked our country as well as she did hers.

Ilse awaits her Prince Charming on the Dating Game during Homecoming Week festivities. She showed remarkable restraint while awaiting the outcome. At Right, Princess Ilse and her escort, Joe Soulagnet, make their grand entrance to the Snoball.

Though sometimes tired from the long bus trips, the Cross Country team pulled through placing near the top of their division. In their second season this year's runners showed determination and great potential for next year.

"Who's got it?" a familiar cry from our girls.

A smash 'em, stomp 'em attitude was in the air. Both teammates and fans shared the enthusiasm as the Junemores sloshed through the mud and rain to overpower the Freniors 8 to 0

In their frustration, the Frenior team grabbed their coaches, Joe Sopko and Brian Cole and dragged them through the mud. The victorious Junemores carried their coaches, Scott Maltman and Kevin McIlvenny off the field ending a short but memorable season.

J.V. Football

With Mark Fish and Ray O'Harra as leading scorers the J.V. Team ended the year with a 3, 2 and 1 tie record. Because of injuries the J.V. team didn't have the playing potential. Good luck to them next year.

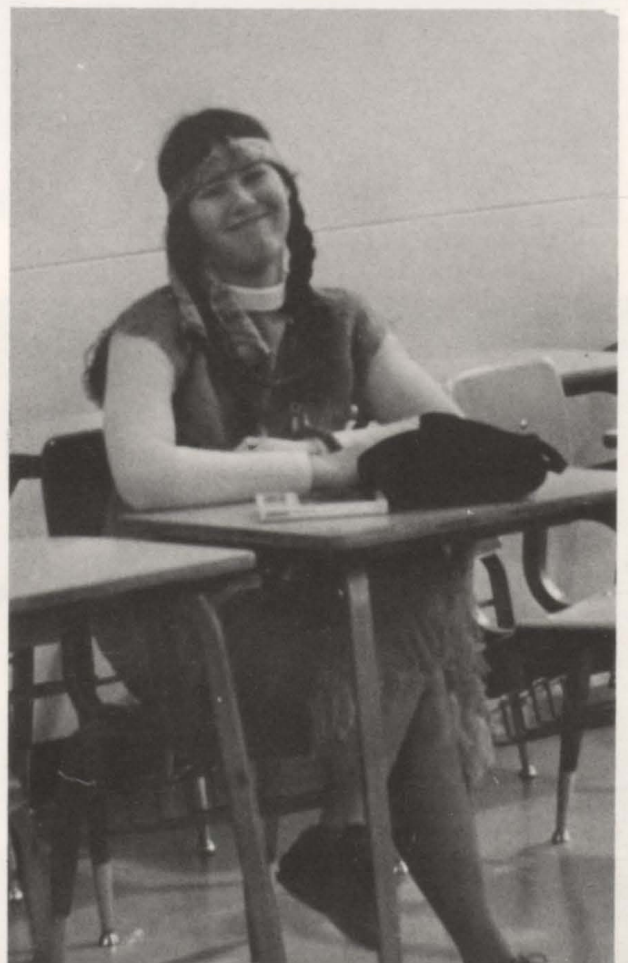

Homecoming

Queen Dixie Tanner and princesses Liz Pittard and Marlene Burke reigned over 1974 Homecoming Week. Classes struggled to gain points for the spirit cup from various activities, but the Seniors were victorious over the underclassmen. Seniors accomplished this by winning first place in the toothpick-lifesaver race, the flour scramble, the sleeping bag race and other activities. Joe Soulagnet and Joe Sopko shared the title of King Football.

Above, Craig Walter represents the Seniors in the Apple Dunking Contest. Costume Day brought out clowns and other strange folk, including Sue Harris as an Indian maiden.

After hours of work, a blazing inferno warms the cheerful crowd at this year's Homecoming Bonfire. Above, the 1974 Court.

Extreme competition was the key factor in this year's One-Act Play Contest, not only between classes but between directors and performers as well. Opening the contest was the Junior Class entry, "Stranger With Roses", a science fiction drama directed by Linda Webb. Next was the Freshman production, "Her Fatal Beauty", a "new-fashioned" melodrama directed by senior Sue Millikan. The Sophomore presentation followed, a 1945-style farce directed by Warren S. See. "Soap Opera" not only was awarded Best Play, but produced one of the two Best Supporting Actresses. Last on the evening's agenda was the Senior effort, "Shadows of the Soul", a drama written and directed by Randy Stamm.

"A Little Bit of Everything" termed big success!

While the judges tallied votes a crowd-pleasing production was put on by Miss Lois Bode and Mr. Ron Widener who played two elderly people recalling a somewhat mixed-up past in "I'm Herbert."

Holding the winner's trophy is the Sophomore cast of the lighthearted "Soap Opera": Terri Boysen, Joey Elliott, Jorjett Strumme, Cheryl Harding, Carla Nichols and Warren S. See, director. At Far Right, Paul Mitchell, who was Master of Ceremonies.

A Grave Situation . . .

October 31 marked the arrival of the world's most famous midnight swinger, Count Dracula. The Count and company entranced the curious and terrified the timid with their tale of horror and deception which was staged within the confines of the high school cafeteria.

Converting the library into a House of Horror proved to be a "hair raising" experience for both victims and the creator, Denise Kittle, as well.

Ghouls and guys in the cast were: Steve Lowe, the Count; Randy Stamm, Professor Van Helsing; Sue Millikan and Gayle Linder, Lucy; Gary McCorkle, Harker; Hillary Kapan, Dr. Seward; Linda Webb, Miss Wells; Warren See, Butterworth; and Cuthbert P. Rat as Cuthbert.

Wrestling

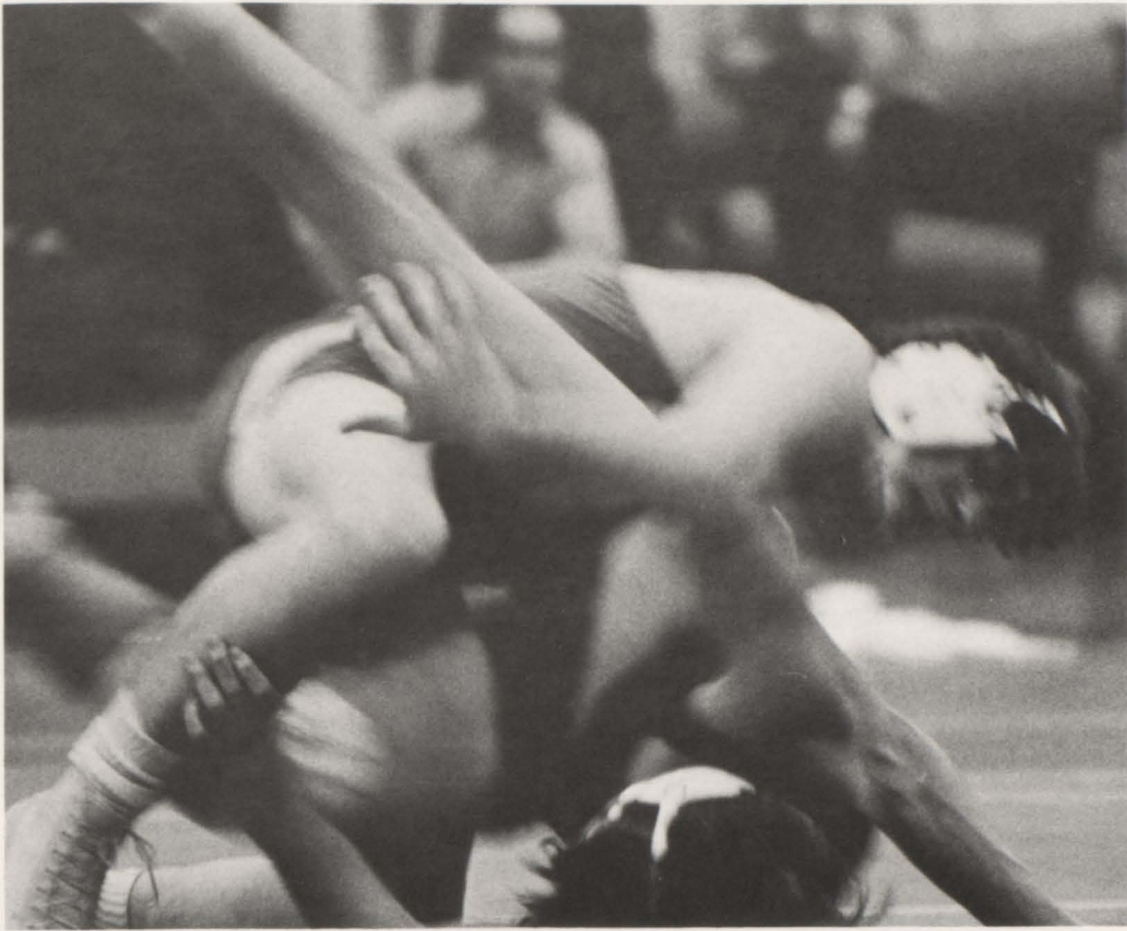

Wrestlers got off to a good start at the beginning of the year with a big turnout for the early morning practices. Shaping up the Gull matmen were Coach Wayne Van Burger and Coach Les Barnhart. Wrestling Rally helped bring spirit to the matches. The Team Is Pictured Below on a wet morning before a strenuous practice session.

Seaside goes to State!

Our mighty gulls went to the State Tournament for the first time since 1961. Cheered on by rally and enthusiastic fans, Seaside pulled off an impressive fifth place. Seaside fans also stood behind Rainier, the other team from the Cowapa League, as they won second place. Many friendships developed during the trip.

JV Basketball

The Junior Varsity team had an outstanding year with a 15-5 total record. It was probably one of the most high-scoring teams ever at Seaside. Coach Ed Johnson turned out many good players, including Mike Hartman, high point, closely followed by Jim Norling and Mitch Mooney. For the first time, all members of the JV team had Varsity experience, which will contribute to a strong Varsity team next year.

Oliver!

A Dickens classic was brought to life in this year's all school musical, OLIVER. Young Twist, portrayed by Tony Tillman, is a 13-year-old English orphan boy whose adventures take him from a decaying workhouse to the wilds of underground London. Fifty music and drama students and two faculty members performed in the program. Tails and top hats and long printed dresses as well as grease-covered beggar's rags were brought out of the closets to be worn by the young actors and actresses. The house was filled to capacity each evening of the three-night run creating a "Dickens" of a performance. Cast members were Warren See, Randy Stamm, Bob Lathrop, Sue Millikan, Gary McCorkle, Jorjett Strumme, Jana Peterson, Don Lathrop, Tony Paino, Hillary Kapan, Carla Nichols, Karel Birlew, Tony Harrison, Paul Mitchell, Joe Elliott, Kathy Dye, Sharon Jackson, Janice Haubner, Denise Kittle and Lauren Lovell.

Talent Show

AN INTRODUCTION TO A TRADITION

Twenty-five Seaside High students got together and "did their thing" in the school's first annual Talent Show. The show was mostly a musical one featuring a vast array of vocal and instrumental solos, duets and groups. Producer Karel Birlew tried to calm the numerous cases of butterflies with smiles and reassuring glances. Tension mounted as the competitors awaited the judges' decision. Placing first was Bob Lathrop, who performed two of his own original compositions. Second was a combo including Sue Harris, Carlton Ward, Ralph Dichter, Gary McCorkle, Keith Chandler and Brett Pollack. They played the title song from the Broadway musical PURLIE. Third place went to Warren See for his rendition of Michel Legrand's "What Are You Doing the Rest of Your Life."

Fashion Show

Seaside rubbed shoulders with the fashion world as an estimated 40 girls and guys went out in style. Everything from pretty pajamas to sizzling sport clothes was modeled. The Seaside High music department supplied the music. Girl's Glee and the Choir sang Christmas carols and the Stage Band played a little jazz. Adding humor to the event were Janice Haubner and Carla Nichols, commentators.

Say "cheese", please! Miss Matteson is beckoning to the camera to take the picture.

"Awaiting a promising evening" seems to be the message reflected in these young people's faces.

Sue Millikan reveals the "thin" of things as Janice Haubner describes her flowing garment.

Sno-ball: "An Old-Fashioned Love Song"

Soft lights and mellow music set the mood for this year's Sno-ball. An estimated 100 starry-eyed students attended the affair dancing to the music of Wildwood Creek Band. Long flowing dresses and bright sportswear accented the dance floor creating a special atmosphere. Chaperones participated in the final dance bringing a memorable experience to a close.

High-Q

340-45 was the staggering point difference created by the foursome representing Seaside High on the High-Q program March 27. Only a small percentage of the questions directed to the team were answered incorrectly. The score at the beginning of the game was close, but Seaside shot ahead as the team warmed up.

Above: Strongly supported by teammate Kathleen Porter, Captain Randy Stamm led Seaside to a landslide victory over Sandy. Right: Hillary Kapan relieves pre-show jitters with a laugh while Tony Harrison takes a more serious view.

President Tom Bates led the nineteen members of the National Honor Society this year. This was a busy organization, participating in Homecoming activities, raising money through candy sales for scholarships and other traditional projects, and sponsoring the annual Honor Banquet in the spring. The organization spotlights honor students to stimulate and promote academic accomplishment.

Band

The Band this year kept busy performing at school functions, such as football and basketball games, various concerts, and the Spring Tour. They also played at the Church Conference in November, and received a superior rating for their participation in the North Coast Band Festival. This extremely talented group made their last public appearance of the year when they played at graduation on June 4, conducted by Mr. Jerry Hogsett.

Girls Glee

Our singing Girls Glee was active throughout the year, performing not only at all school concerts and at the Fashion Show, but also at such community activities as the Senior Citizens Luncheon, singing for the residents of the Astoria Convalescent Home, and at the Cowapa League Choir Festival. The all-girl group brought praise from audiences wherever they performed.

Choir

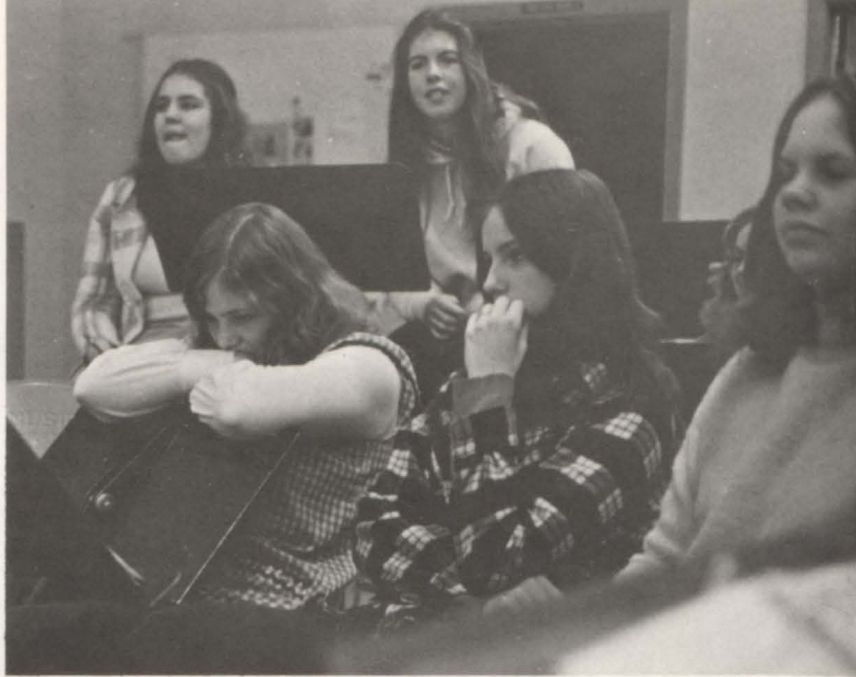

The Choir had a really swinging year, starting off with the Oregon Symphony Pops Concert under Norman Leyden, and including such events as Christmas caroling at Lloyd Center, attending the Cowapa League Choir Festival and the Spring Tour to Jewell and John Adams High School, where they were able to display their talents before appreciative audiences. At Right, the many faces and voices of the choir as they performed during a practice session, directed by the elusive Mrs. Hogsett.

Swing Choir

A very busy schedule kept the Swing Choir singing throughout the year. Singing at many school concerts and at graduation, the group also went out into the community to perform for such events as The Foster Parent's Tea, the Benefit for the Shriner's Children's Hospital, and the Lions Club Installation. In competition this talented group won First Place at the Stevenson Jazz Festival, and Second Place at the Mt. Hood Jazz Festival, completing a successful year.

Stage Band

The Stage Band performed at many school functions as well as at the Lion's Club Convention and on tour with Choir, Glee and Band to John Adams High School. This year the Stage Band competed against a wide variety of groups at the Stevenson Jazz Festival and was very highly rated. To make money for their spring tour, Stage Band joined Swing Choir to present their first annual Talent Show. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Hogsett and the entire music department on another successful year.

Arghonauts

The Arghonauts is a group of talented students who share an interest in drama. This group, characterized by participation in theatrical events throughout the year, revolves around a central core of National Thespians Society members and has brought the Seaside High Drama Department into the public eye. These people have made the Arghonauts one of the more active groups in school, and drama a fun tradition.

Ever driven 342 miles with thirteen restless teenagers? It's not an easy task, but then, neither is bringing home eight out of a possible nineteen drama awards that were intended to be shared with eight other schools at the Walla Walla Interstate One-Act Play Contest. Some of the award winners Are Pictured At Right with Mr. Widener, From Left, Greg Bennett, Kathleen Porter, Bob Lathrop, Sue Millikan and Randy Stamm.

Dux Hi-Y

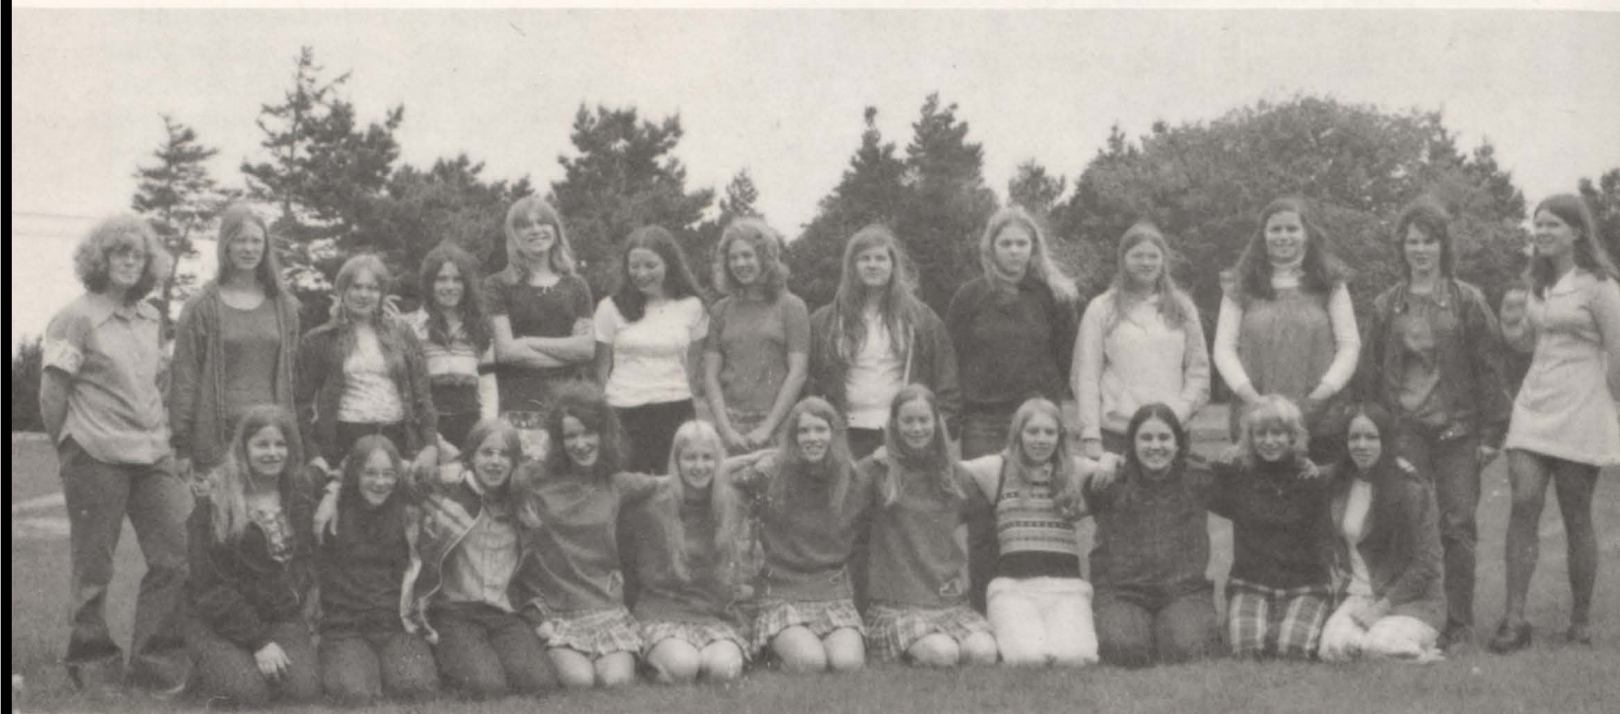

Dux Hi-Y is a boys' service organization which helps with community activities and fund-raising projects, but still has the time for fun outings. This year they helped with the Carnival, the Oregon Bar Convention at the Civic Center, and helped with the Seaside Kids membership drive. Outings included their annual dinner at the Partee Room, the hamburger feed, the trip to see a Portland Trailblazers' game. In the Dux Hi-Y VS Faculty basketball game Hi-Y came out on top.

Pep Club

In tradition, Pep Club brought out paintbrush and paper creating various styles of lettering throughout the school athletic season. Signs of every shape and size adorned walls, flashing shades of red, white and blue in every direction. Bake sales and cake walks were also included on this year's agenda. Club meetings were held deep in the confines of the Art Room, lead by Karel Birlew, President, and Miss Sandra Wentzel, adviser.

White Caps

White Caps is a service organization composed of sophomore, junior, and senior girls, whose projects included the Sno-Ball dance, running the concession stands during football and track seasons, serving at sports awards banquets, and working at the Bloodmobile. As a means of relaxation, the group took a fun trip to Portland. Members included, Leah Griffith, President; Susan Diehl, Vice-President; Sharon Larkins, Secretary-Treasurer; Cheryl Calahan, Sergeant-at-Arms, Diane Dale, Kim Wahl, Jorjett Strumme, Cheryl Harding, Mary Shultz, Kristi Haller, Kathy Walker, Melodee Birlew.

Drifting Sands

A sixteen-page paper was the highlight of this year's DRIFTING SANDS staff effort. It contained a little of everything from every category. A magazine format was attempted and we managed to get a few rave notices which lifted our spirits considerably. Our staff, starting nine strong, dwindled to a mere four, yet somehow we managed to stay in circulation. It is to these people I wish to extend my sincere appreciation for their efforts.

Seabreeze

This year proved to be a most interesting and strenuous one. Deadlines were our most prominent obstacle, yet somehow, someone always came through. The annual staff shared every sort of duty imaginable. While some were out selling ads or taking pictures, others were drawing layouts and writing copy. Everyone learned a little bit about everything, and speaking of everything, the SEABREEZE staff would like to thank Bill Jones for all his work with the camera and in the darkroom. Without his help this annual could easily have been a storybook without the illustrations.

Science Club

This year's Science Club got off to a flying start by organizing the first annual district-wide Paper Airplane Contest. The contest was met with soaring enthusiasm and high-spirited cooperation from all the schools involved. Next year the club plans such projects as making an electron microscope and a cloud chamber. Officers were, Leslie Doyle, president; Hillary Kapan, Vice President; Kim Wahl, Secretary; Mr. Johnson, advisor.

Practice flights involved participants in the first annual Paper Airplane Contest, here shown in the high school cafetorium.

The Clatsop County FFA Chapter, a group dedicated to the development of young people's interest in agriculture, has had a successful year, including the annual Apple Sale and the Donkey Basketball Game.

Chess Club

The Chess Club is a group of enthusiasts, some of whom meet everyday at lunch for the purpose of furthering their chess-playing talent. This year they held two chess tournaments, a game-by-mail with Knappa, helped with elementary school tournaments, had a chess mini-course at Central and taught four new members to play. Officers and members are, Hillary Kapan, President; Tony Harrison, Vice President; Kathleen Porter, Secretary; Leslie Doyle, Ron Zwahlen, Tom Heckenberg, Tim Zillman, Denise Kittle, Deanna Erickson, Keith Work, Ron Bullock, Kim Wahl, Kelly Gardner, Cecil Jones, Larry Parlette, and Benny Scallan.

Letterman's Club

For the first year the gentlemen of the Letterman's Club admitted girls into their organization. Although hesitant at first, the ladies proved themselves and made history by joining the "S" Club. All worked hard selling cushions and popcorn at basketball games to earn money for their trip to a Trailblazer game in Portland.

Spanish Club

This year's Spanish Club proved the most effective in some time under the able leadership of President Tina Grafton and Advisor Mr. Jessen. Members sold popcorn in order to raise funds to send a select group of Spanish students to Mexico. Although the goal was not reached this year, the club has a good start on which to build next year. Members Are, From Left, Mr. Jessen, Deirdre O'Donovan, Bill Nimmo, Ralph Waddell, Kevin Wilson, Cathy Polaschek, Larry Jordan, Elaine Armstrong, Isle Schmidt, Leah Griffith, Roy Billings, Stacey Brown, Phil Jordan, Rachelle Brown.

French Club

French Club devoted much of its time to French cuisine, cooking such delights as BOEUF BOURGUIGNON and CHOUX À LA CRÈME. They also celebrated Christmas with a party featuring BÛCHE DE NOËL and a gift drawing. To cap off the year, this group of French gourmets took a field trip to Portland to dine at a French restaurant. Members Are, Kneeling From Left, Charles Zimmerman, Bridget Gallinger, Dana Walter, Warren See; Back, Chris Stamm, Leslie Wickman, Jorjett Strumme, Cheryl Harding, Julie Mespelt.

Rally Squads

What does it take to be a cheerleader? It takes devotion, determination, and a little bit of creativity. This year's rally worked to the best of their ability to bring out these qualities in themselves. To bring enthusiasm out of a passive crowd and get them each and every one excited about the game or pep assembly at hand takes a very special talent, which each of these girls possessed.

J.V. Rally members are, Kneeling, Teri Kaino, Patty Blacketer, Cindy Nannetti, Christy Walsborn and Pam Mizar.

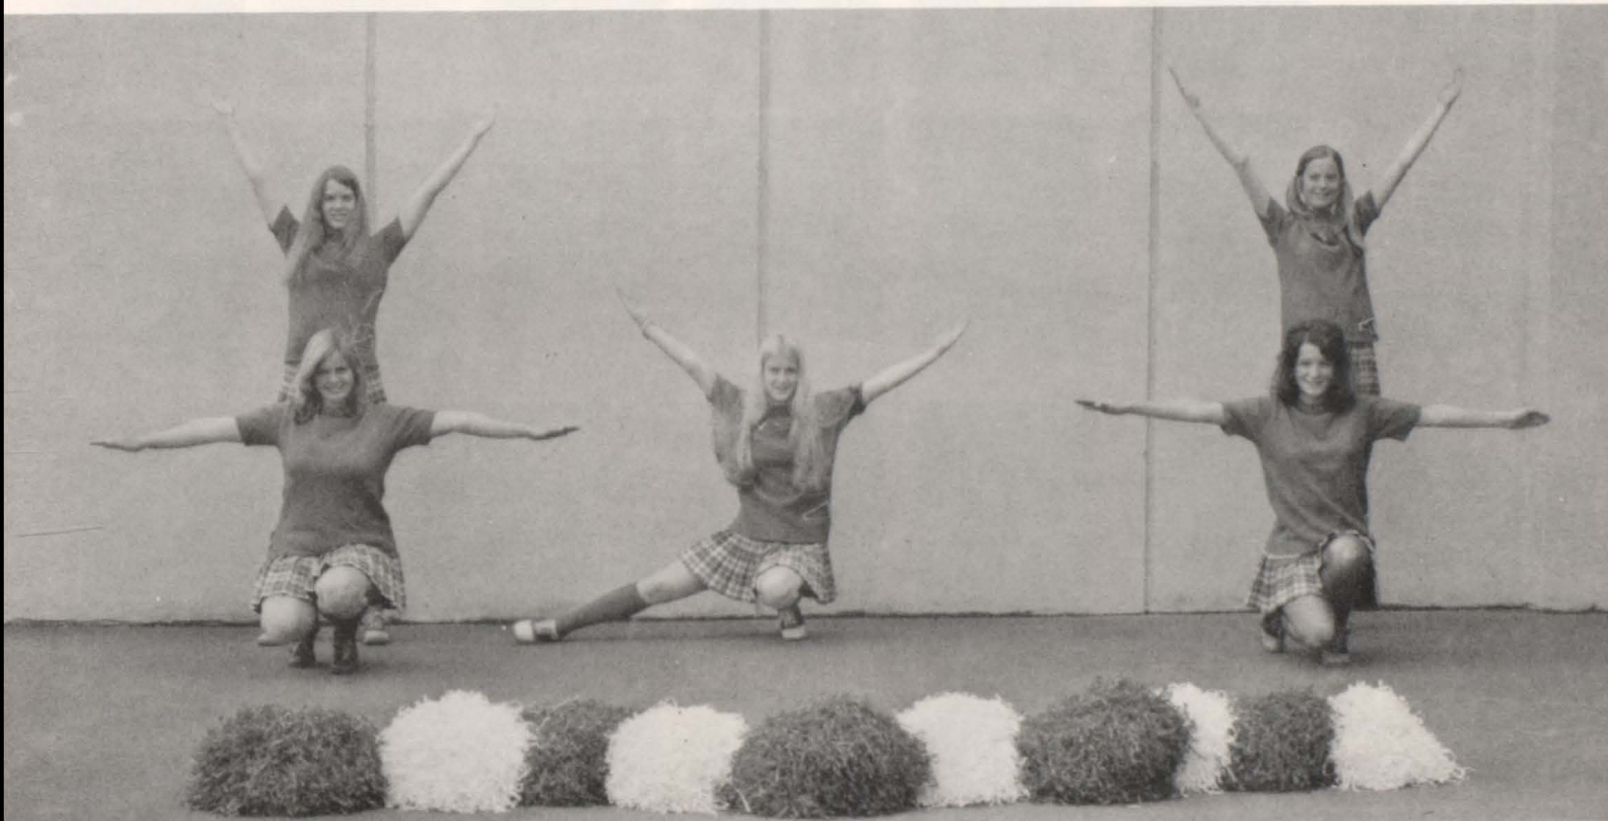

Hard work and dedication shown by Rallysquad

To be a cheerleader is to experience some things one doesn't soon forget. Like being a part of a group, and contributing something and then seeing the end result. It is to work together and become one group instead of different personalities. It is exciting, and wonderful, heartbreaking, and frustrating; it is hard work, and hurt feelings, and it is a very big accomplishment. It is laughs and smiles and tears. . .and something to be proud of.

Juniors

The 1974 Junior-Senior Prom was sponsored by none other than this year's Junior Class. A lot of work was put into this event, including the sale of assorted candles and stationery cards. When the big day arrived, many of the Junior girls gathered at the Astoria Country Club to decorate. Hours passed like minutes and soon their efforts began to take form. A little bit of their time made the Prom a great success to most of the students. The Junior Class, however, did not finish their many achievements with the ending of the Prom. They finished the remainder of the year by serving refreshments at the Senior Baccalaureate and supplying decorations for the graduation exercises. The Class of '75 anticipates an exciting Senior year accented with plenty of spirit and enthusiasm.

The Heiress

Nineteenth century New York was the setting for this year's spring play, THE HEIRESS, by Augustus and Ruth Goetz based on WASHINGTON SQUARE by Henry James. Hoop skirts and tails adorned the players and antique furniture gave the stage a period look. The elaborate setting was not completely finished until the second performance, but nothing could diminish the actors' enthusiasm as the audience warmed to the production. Mr. Ron Widener directed the play, assisted by Paul Mitchell and Kathleen Porter; Carlton Ward, Keith Work and Gary McCorkle made sure that all ran smoothly behind the scenes. In the title role Kathleen Porter portrayed Catherine Sloper; Tony Harrison was Dr. Austin Sloper; Randy Stamm, Morris Townsend, Sue Millikan, Aunt Lavinia Penniman, Jorjett Strumme, Elizabeth Almond, Cheryl Harding, Maria, Jana Peterson, Mrs. Montgomery, Carla Nichols, Marian Almond, Hillary Kapan, Arthur Townsend.

Baseball

Seaside Gulls captured their fourth consecutive Cowapa League title this year, with a 14-1 league record and a 20-4 record for the season. They won the quarterfinal game over Sherwood with a score of 2-0, but lost in the semi-finals to eventual State champion Newport 1-0. Voted this year's Most Valuable Player was Lee Wilson; Honorary Captain, Kevin Hertig; Most Inspirational, Josh Gizdavich; Most Improved, David Oesterblad; Mr. Hustle, Mike Treadway.

Girls Track

Girls were League and District AA champs in 1974. They were Cowapa League Relay champions, had their second undefeated dual meet season and placed second at the Forest Grove Invitational. Girls also competed in Gladstone Meet of Champions. They were eighth in State with Katie Kero State 220 champion; in 440 Relay they were third. Patty Kershul placed fifth in discus and Katie was sixth in long jump. Kim Smith set records in javelin and high jump, for a total of four new school records. "A fantastic year in Girls' Track," said Coach Ann Lewis.

Color My World

"Color My World With Love" was the theme of this year's Prom given at the Astoria Country Club on April 27. Julie Chapman and her escort Dan Poppino reigned over the event which featured a good attendance and many memories. Surrounded by a rainbow of carnations and decorations, Bittersweet Jam supplied the evening's musical background with current choice selections and a few blasts from the past. A lively spirit vibrated from the students in attendance, creating a few exhausted chaperones and most memorable evening.

Robby Southworth likes the Prom but loves that "zingy" punch!

Class of "74"

We touch but briefly
in an ocean of time . . .

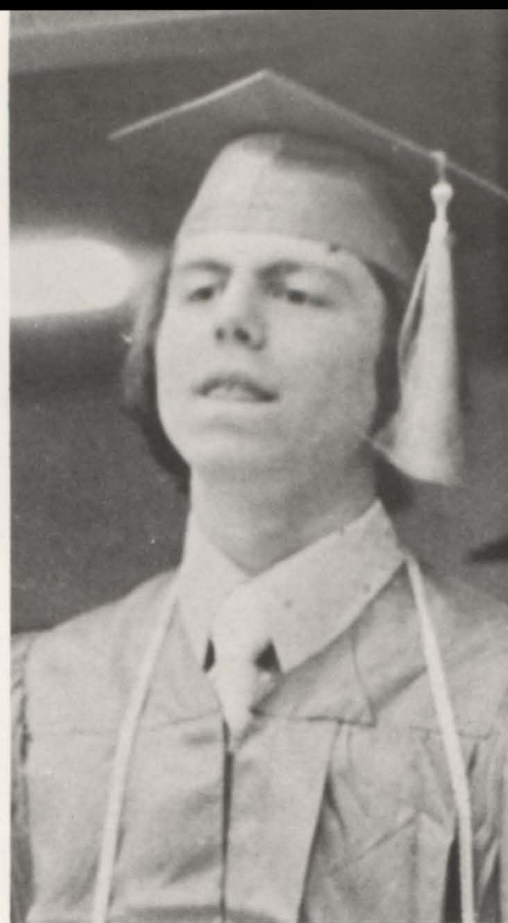

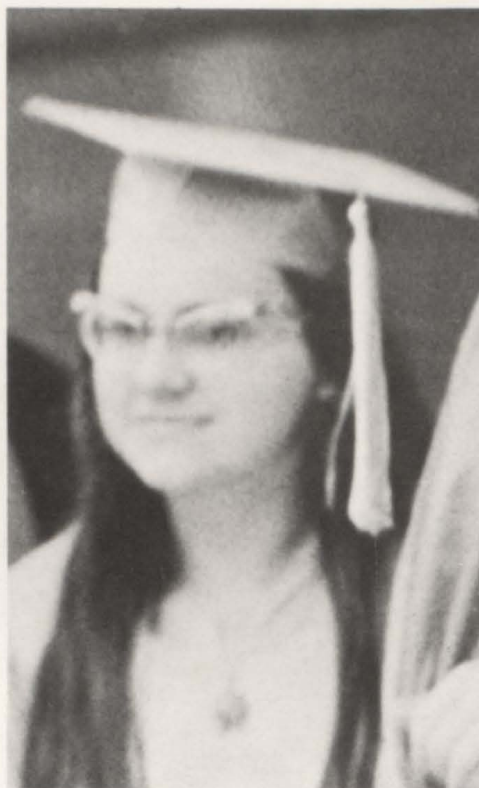

but whenever together
we will always be one.

Graduation

There was much emotion as the eighty-five members of the Class of 1974 walked down the aisle to be graduated from Seaside High School. It was an outstanding year for awards in music, sports and drama, as well as for individual achievements. For the graduates there will be memories of a year to be proud of.

Valedictorian Kathleen Porter's speech was titled "Perceptions" and Salutatorian Mark Wickman spoke on the theme of "Prescriptions."

Before the big moment, the girls' dressing room was full of last minute greetings and preparations.
